STRATEGIC REPORT FOR THE YEAR ENDED 31 AUGUST 2025

Introduction

The directors present their strategic report for the year ended 31 August 2025

Business review

The principal activity of the company is the provision of payroll-related services to its parent, Bankside Financial Solutions Consulting Limited

The Company's revenue comes solely from its parent company and the Company accounts for income based on costs incurred on behalf of its parent company. No profit is earned by the Company, and all costs are invoiced in the period they relate to. The Company's costs come mostly from employment costs, including staff wages and related salary costs such as Employer's NI, the Apprenticeship Levy and employee pension costs.

In the year, the Group has received revenue of £13.8m (2023: £14.3m) from the Parent entity, which aligns to a marginally lower level of revenue achieved by the Company's parent for this year. Cost of sales of £13.8m (2023: £14.3m) offset this revenue to essentially eliminate the profit in the period, in line with the Company's principal activity.

The Company's net assets position at 31 August 2024 remains unchanged from the prior year, at £100. The Company's average number of employees in the year was 78 (2023: 86).

Principal risks and uncertainties

The Company's risks are inherently linked to that of its parent, given the principal activity of the Company is to be a payroll company. Therefore, the key risk for the Company is that the parent entity is unable to provide sufficient funds from the underlying trading to settle the Company's liabilities as they fall due. This key risk is underpinned by all the below principal risks and uncertainties of the parent entity.

- Competitors – risk that a competitor or new entrant may be able to achieve success and win work from the Company's existing clients. Less mature or more specialist propositions, which the Company chooses to develop, may present less of a competitive advantage.
- Macro – risk that wider market, economic, commercial and financial risks can impact the Company's ability to service clients, their demand for consultancy and technology services and, therefore, the Company's own performance and financial position.
- Quality of service – risk of failure to maintain quality of service on client delivery engagements.
- People – risk of failure to attract, incentivise and retain the best people with the right capabilities across all propositions, levels and geographies. A failure to undertake effective succession planning for key roles could also adversely increase this risk and impact performance.
- Business strategy – risk that the Company responds inadequately to changing market factors, including technological advancements, and strategic growth opportunities, including acquisitions. The success of the Company depends on continuing to develop a proposition that best serves its clients.
- Security – risk of cyber-attacks, security breaches and data mishandling, leading to consequent risks to client data, loss of integrity or availability of core data.

In addition to the principal risks disclosed above, the Company is also exposed to other risks that are not considered principal risks. These include geopolitical, technological, regulatory, and financial risks.

The tax expense for the year comprises current and deferred tax. Tax is recognised in profit or loss except that a charge attributable to an item of income and expense recognised as other comprehensive income or to an item recognised directly in equity is also recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity respectively.

The current income tax charge is calculated on the basis of tax rates and laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the balance sheet date in the countries where the Company operates and generates income.

Deferred tax balances are recognised in respect of all timing differences that have originated but not reversed by the balance sheet date, except that:

- The recognition of deferred tax assets is limited to the extent that it is probable that they will be recovered against the reversal of deferred tax liabilities or other future taxable profits, and
- Any deferred tax balances are reversed if and when all conditions for retaining associated tax allowances have been met.

Deferred tax balances are not recognised in respect of permanent differences except in respect of business combinations, when deferred tax is recognised on the differences between the fair values of assets acquired and the future tax deductions available for them and the differences between the fair values of liabilities acquired and the amount that will be assessed for tax. Deferred tax is determined using tax rates and laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the balance sheet date.

Cash is represented by cash in hand and deposits with financial institutions repayable without penalty on notice of not more than 24 hours. Cash equivalents are highly liquid investments that mature in no more than three months from the date of acquisition and that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash with insignificant risk of change in value.

2.12 Creditors

Creditors are obligations to pay for goods or services that have been acquired in the ordinary course of business from suppliers.
